Vision Statement Review Exercise

Whenever you revise or review your strategic plan consider the following questions:

Does your vision statement reflect your organization's key values at the present time?

What additional values would you like your organization to adopt?

How would you propose incorporating these additional values into your vision statement?